The delegates appointed by Provisional President Carbajal left Mexico City today for Saltillo, where the peace conferences will take place and there is every indication, according to the State Department advices, that an amicable arrangement will be made to hand over to the Constitutionalists the reins of government.

Advices from Southern Mexico stated that the envoys sent by Carranza to discuss the general situation in Mexico with emissaries of Zapata had had a long conference today, which was in every respect satisfactory, Officials now expect that Zapata will co-operate with the Constitutionalists in maintaining peace in Mexico.

Count Michael Karolyi, leader of the Hungarian radicals, said here tonight on the eve of his departure for Hungary.

Count Karolyi confirmed his part in furnishing M. Caillaux with the papers which the latter presented in court in Paris today. He said this was not done as a service of one friend to snother in trouble, though he responded affirmatively to a question whether M. Caillaux was a friend of his.

"The letters," Count Karolyi continued, "furnished proof that Calmette, of whom it had been sought to make a hero, was actually in the pay of the Hungarian government, and had undertaken to speak favorably of it in the Figaro, though Hungary adhered to an alliance hostile to the international group of which France is a member. The Figaro has been lending this support to the government of Count Tissa for nearly one year and a haif."

PITTSBURGH, July 27.—A suit

ulty was filed in the United States equity was filed in the United States, District Court here today by George V. Brown of Cleveland, asking that a receiver be appointed for the Federal National Bank of Pittsburgh. Brown, who is a stockholder, alleges that the directors "carelessly, negligently and fraudulently" loaned to John H. Jones and the corporation which he owned and controlled $700.000. He also charges the directors diverted the funds and used them in conducting a lumber manufacturing business with a loss of $500,000 to the bank. He further charges that the directors made excessive loans to some of the directors and corporations in which they were interested, the total claims against the officers and directors, he says, amounting to $1,200.000.

At a meeting of the directors of the bank last January it was decided to liquidate the Federal National, and Brown in his petition asks that the receiver be appointed to liquidate the assets of the bank and distribute the proceeds among the stockholders. The Federal had a capital of $1,000,000.

papers note the significance of the fact that Sir Edward Grey's proposal contemplated only mediation between Austria and Russia, not Servia and Austria.

Well-informed circles assume that Germany is disposed to regard the British Foreign Secretary's proposal sympathetically, but to act only within limits wholly agreeable to Austria. Any scheme of mediation distasteful to Vienna will forthwith be rejected as an attempt to exert undue pressure on Austria.

FRANKFORT (Germany) July 27.

—The Frankfurter Zeitung, in an obviously inspired Berlin dispatch, answers the French demand that Emperor William intervene to secure the peace of Europe, and says:

"Emperor William's consistent record shows that such an appeal is not necessary, particularly as Germany has nothing to gain in the event of war. No act of the German policy threatens peace.

"The appeal should be directed to Russia, whose ruler, the convoker of the peace conference, holds in his hands the decision, war or peace."

Democrats Hope for Final Vote by Saturday.

Republicans Call Meeting to Discuss Situation.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Actual rogress today rewarded efforts of administration Senators to expedite for a time to hold up the measure, but they quickly abandoned the effort and Democratic leaders now hope to get a final vote on the first of the trust measures by Saturday night.

The amendment, adopted by a vote of 40 to 13, would apply to the section of the bill relating to unfair competition and would provide that no order or finding of the proposed commission or of a court in connection therewith, should be admissible as swidence in any suit, civil of criminal, brought under the anti-trust laws.

WANTS "UNFAIR" DEFINED.
Senators Sutherland and Brandesee, Republicans vigorously opposed the amendment. Later Senator Brandegee moved to strike from the bill the section which would declare unfair competition unlawful, and empower the commission to define unfair competition and prevent corporations from using unfair methods in commerce. This motion was pending when the Senate recessed for the day.

liams off his foot that a service ace resulted. Williams also covered the court surprisingly well and McLoughlin falled many times to score apparently sure kills.

After his singles match McLoughlin took his Davis cup partner, Bundy, and played two sets against Mavrogordato and Kingscote, the British Davis cup players. All four of the British team were on the Longwood court twice today, Parke's work attracting much attention.

The doubles match between Hackett and Alexander and Fottrell and Murray was a lively affair, but the greatter individual brilliancy of the young Californians proved of little avail against the superior team work of the old-time holders.

The afterncon sport started with Murray defeating Johnson in straight the sets went to deuce through the steadiness of the Philadelphian. In the last set Johnson had a lead of five games to three, when Murray ran out the set and the match. The scores: $-5, $-3, $-5.

William Wallace—Scotland's Great Patriot

CR nearly seven hundred years the sons and daughters of Scotland have severed the memory of Wallace. It is not too much to say that this will continue for seventy times seven hundred years. When but a youth the love of Personal and National Liberty burned so fiercely in the breast of Wallace that he revolted against England's syrannous rule. At the head of his gallant band of riders he won skirmish after skirmish, and finally, at the opportune time, quickly organized an army and routed the English at Stirling Bridge. William Wallace admired a good Barley-Malt brew just as do the Scotchmen of to-day. Prohibition has ever been a detestable word to the Scotch people. They will not have it enter into their private lives, and the Scotch vote is always registered by a large majority against such sumptuary legislation. In America they have done much to build up the country. Thousands of our solid Scotch citizens are patrons of the honest brews of Anheuser-Busch and have been constant users of BUDWEISER. They have helped to make the annual sales of this world-famed brand exceed those of any other beer by millions of bottles.

Here it puts into motion the process of preparing all impurities into a substance that is promptly expelled through the skin pores. was wedded to Miss Frances Mable Underwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Albert Monroe Underwood, wealthy plantation owners, at Belleview, the country home of the bride's parents, near New Orleans, La., Saturday, Mr.
Rush surprised his many friends and business acqualintances in Southern California, who believed that he had gone east on a business trip when he left here a few days ago. Only his parents and close business associates knew otherwise until word was recelved yesterday that the happy couple were on their way to the Vanåerbilt Hotel. New York City, to spend a brief honeymoon. They are expected to return to Los Angeles about August 10.

Miss Underwood is well known in the winter society circles of Los Angeles, having spent the last five seasons in Southern California, coming here from her southern home in the fall and returning again as summer came on. She is also prominent in New Orleans society, making that city her headquarters when in Dixie.

It was three years ago that Mr.
Rush met Miss Underwood at a social have been keeping court assiduously, although unknown to their many friends.

United States Marshal Walton yes-terday announced the appointment of Joseph Dockweller as bailift in the United States District Court, taking effect immediately. abounds throughout its length, with pleasant visitas of dropped valleys and the chattering pathways of small streams.

The first section of the road would follow the San Gabriel River for twelve miles from Azusa to the mouth of the Susanna Canyon, where a low grade prevails. The east and south banks of the river are considered the most feasible for the entire distance. North of Azusa, the road has been graded for six miles and much of this stretch could be utilized in the proposed road. About two miles north of Azusa is a point where a high-strade now exists. To make the road more inviting to motorists, this grade can be lowered to less than half its present standard.

Crossing the San Gabriel River at the mouth of the Susanna Canyon on a 300-foot bridge, the proposed road leaves the bottom of canyon, where it reaches an elevation of 2856 feet. It would be passed at a maximum grade of 6 per cent. for four miles, the road gradually relaxing into a moderate slope to lower levels.

Passing through the saddle east of Roberis Canyon, the road would follow along the west slope of the main San Gabriel Canyon, and through Laurel Gulch. The road then rises to the 3300 foot contour to Iron Fork, a distance of five miles. Because of the knife-edged ridges that prevail, the most difficult of the construction work would be involved here. A bridge of about 100-foot span crossing the Iron Fork at narrows 1000 feet above its mouth will save a long and expensive detour through the canyon.

North of the junction of Fish Fork with the San Gabriel River, the road would continue along the east side of the river, for several miles to the crossing of Prairie Fork near the junction of Vincent Gulch to the summit northeast of North Baldy Peak.

At an elevation of 6600 feet, passing the divide from San Gabriel Canyon to the Big Rock Creek, and then to the junction with Pallett Creek. From there, the road would continue for eighteen miles to Palmále willow miles of the proposed roadway, about fifty miles would be terference topographically.

Of the seventy miles of the proposed roadway, about fifty miles would be called a mountain road with heavy construction, according to the report of Fred D. Bowlus, senior civil engineer in the County Surveyor's office.

The roadway would constitute the most pretenious transmountain highway in Southern California, opening to the tourist the San Gabriel and Big Rock Canyons with their treasury of attractions to the traveler. The project has the earnest support of the residents in that district, who have been seeking a trunk line to solve their transportation problems.

Lively Scene After Nervy Daylight Hold-up.

After a spectacular chase of twenty blocks, in which the fugitive closed in on him with a pick, Edward Miller, 27, who says he is a carpent was captured at Nevin and Adams sed that it was he who held up C. Laffin in his grocery store at L. Laffin in his grocery store at Wadsworth street and Vernon avenue at midday. Found hiding in a lumber yard, Miller had on his person an amethyst ring and money which he took from the grocer.

With unusual daring Miller entered the little store while women and children were buying articles of food for the noonday meal. He wore no mask. Waiting until another customer had been served, he asked for a package of tobacco. Mr. Laffin turned to take it from the shelf. When he faced about he was looking into the muzzle of a revolver.

"Empty your pockets onto the counter!" the bandit ordered sharply. The store-keeper compiled.

"Take off the ring, and hurry!" came the next order.

"Now open the cash register."

"Now open the cash register."

ICEMAN ARRIVES.

The robber scooped out the money, about $4 in all, and lowered his gun as he heard the brakes clamp on an ice wagon, which had stopped outside. Admonishing Mr. Lafin to remain quiet, he hastily pocketed the revolver and passed out of the door just as the iceman was coming in.

"Quick, quick! He has held me up. He has robbed me!" cried the excited grocer, meanwhile pushing the iceman to the door. The iceman, H. E. Qualls, ran to his wagon and extracted an icepick from its sheath. The bandit was running down Wadsworth street and Mr. Qualls took after him, selling the while. A block away Miller turned into East Fortythird street and started around the house of Mrs. M. G. Stewart at No. $12 East Forty-third street. Mr. Qualls had been joined by several residents of the neighborhood. In the Stewart yard the fugitive turned and brahdished the gun and then started on again. He had gone only a few paces before he faced about again and this time fired point blank at his pursuers. The crowd fell back to a safer distance. Getting into Central avenue he ran from Forty-second to Thirty-eighth street and then veered west toward Wadsworth street. In the accumulating posse was C. J. Ewing, a city fireman. He continued down Central, turning into Thirty-seventh in the expectation of heading off Miller. In an alley the bandit almost ran into him. Instantly Miller's gun came up.

"Stand back, damn you, or I'll put a hole through you," the bandit threatened, and continued his race ast on Thirty-seventh.

Unable to bear longer the false reputation of a "model husband," Walter Warner, a painter, 50 years old, shot himself through the head in a bed of flowers at Westiake Park yesterday. He lived at No. 609 Towns avenue.

"I have had the marrying fever since I was 13," he wrote in a note found in his pockets. "I have more than one wife living. Wine, women and rheumatism drove me to this."

Late yesterday afternoon Mrs. Laura Warner, a slight little woman some years younger than Warner, appeared at the Bresee morgue to claim the body. She fainted when she heard Warner's posthumous declaration of bigamy.

"He was a good man," she later told the attendants. "Ever since we were married in San Diego four years ago this April—I have the marriage certificate to show the date—he has been attentive, kind and a good provider. He never stayed away from home. I never suspected that any other woman had entered his life. I can hardly believe that the letter was written by him."

The identity of the other woman in the case is a mystery to the police. The letter in the hands of the Coroner said Warner had recently gone to an electrotherapatist for his rheumatism. The treatment affected his eyesight and Warner refused payment. The practitioner attached he painter's bank account, which was yointly in Warner's name and that of another woman. According to the letter, Warner feared that the relationship would become known—so he divulged it himself and then killed himself.

E. E. Vinson, an official court reporter and leading "Progressive" politician, was arrested yesterday in Spokane, charged with forging the name of Judge Monroe to a voucher for $118 drawn on County Treasurer Hunt. Vinson confessed to the Spokane police while recovering from a protracted spree, according to reports received by the authorities here. The Sheriff notified the northern police to bring him back immediately. A complaint charging Vinson with forgery was issued by Deputy District-Attorney Shannon yesterday afternoon. It is alleged that Vinson signed Judge Monroe's name to the voucher on the 6th inst. He left for Spokane a week later. The forgery is an excellent one, according to Judge Monroe, who studied the signature some time before he was certain it was not his own. Vinson is an expert penman and has been a court reporter for a number of years.

His wife recently declared to Judge Monroe that her husband had failed do provide for herself and two children.

It is probable that W. H. Stephens and C. H. McKelvey, the attorneys charged with using the mails in an alleged blackmail scheme, will either be reindicted by the Federal grand jury, sitting in September, or that the case will be stricken from the docket. Before the case was tried to the jury that resulted in a disagreement, an attack was made on the indictment, but Judge Wellborn sustained the contention of the government. The point in the demurrer that moved the court to ask the defense to again submit the instrument for his consideration, is that it does not charge that when information was brought to the defendants that certain persons had been guilty of immoral acts at the Jonquil, that they knew the charge was false; if they did not know that they were justified in law in undertaking the prosecution of the persons so charged by the young women who have become prominent in the case.

The demurrer will not be argued until the conclusion of the cases against the American Brokerage Company.

the men at Central Station were not big, gruff men, but kind and much like other men.

One was Helen Stein, only 2 years of age. She has big brown eyes and cheeks like one of Correggio's seraphima. Without confiding to a single playmate, little Helen left the family home, No. 1611 West Eleventh street, yesterday morning and going down the street to Union she waited for a car like the little landy she was. One came along and she cilmbed, one foot after another, up the high steps after a man. She took a seat beside Mrs. Agnes Weathoff of Garvanza.

"Where is your mother? Who are you with?" asked the woman.

"I'm with you," Helen responded with appropriate seriousness.

Helen, however, had not escaped unseen. A neighbor had seen her toard the car and thought the strange man a baid, bad kidnaper and reported his fears to the police. Motorcycle Officer Houston was sent to overtake the car, which he did at Second and Broadway.

"I am going to take you back to mamma." the kindly-voiced officer said. Helen pouted.

"I want to go riding," she answered. She was held in Capt. Murray's office until her parents went for her.

The second girl was Ethel Roberts, 12 years of age, who lives on Purcell street, Redlands. Her adventure was not so innocent as that of the younger girl. She was seen by Detective Harris to take a waist in a Broadway department store.

She said a woman had commanded her to steal the waist or she would be put in a dungeon. The gentle questioning of the detective led her to retract her fanciful excuse and say that she had so wished to give her mother a present and did not have the money and so just thought she would take one. The girl will be turned over to her mother.

Habeas Corpus Proceedings for Man Wanted in Tennessee Dismissed When Fugitive Warrant Arrives.

Habeas corpus proceedings for the Habeas corpus proceedings for the release of Benjamin F. Graham, the real estate operator, who was arrested Saturday on a fugitive warrant from Davisson county, Tennessee, charged with having obtained $3000 from the late Thomas E. Ayers of Nashville, under false pretences, were dismissed on motion of his attorney, ex-Judge Gray, before Presiding Judge Wood yesterday. The writ of habeas corpus was applied for before the fugitive warrant was received, and the latter holds Mr. Graham until the hearing can be held on the Governor's requisition for the return of the prisoner to Tennessee, Established 1889. The best and biggest and fairest opportunity ever presented to buy a piano without having to pay the customy tailer's profit, ends next Friday night. At that time the Eilers Music House closes it doors forever. Some of the finest and most costly baby grands and player pianos may still be had at the tremendously reduced prices that have

There are a number of elegant Decker and Kimball and Hazelton pianos still to be had. There are no more mous or higher grade pianos made in America. We offer tomorrow several highest grade, fanciest, quarte oak-cased pianos, the four foot seven and one-half inch size, seven and one-third octaves, for only $195. This is actually less than half price.

Will take $20 cash and $8 a month.

Everything else in this big establishment is correspondingly reduced.

We have stated repeatedly that if there is a pianoless home which does not get a piano or player piano chances are it will never possess one.

When is the Best Time to Begin Saving? RIGHT NOW!

Time passes swiftly, and with the passing of every day it goes more swiftly. Begin saving now! If you wait for your income to increase, you will find that with it will also come increased expenses.

Instead of looking forward to the day when you can "put away a thousand dollars", begin at once to get the first hundred and don't think about the thousand. Begin to get the first hundred by putting away the first ten.

Make the start! If you will do that and keep it up, you will soon gain the habit of saving which, other things being equal, is the foundation stone of success in life.

A "Term" Savings account at the German American is what you need. Your savings will earn 4 per cent interest and pile up with surprising swiftness—if you will but make the start!

GOOD DIRECTOR.

Donald Bowles is an actor of ease and shing quality. Nevertheless, as a stage for at the Burbank his work is of such accellence that it almost reconciles his ab-snoe from the cast. His Child's restau-ant scene in the epilogue of "The Gov-mor's Lady" is a rare bit of stagecraft.

The world was not always charitable to Bob Ingersoll and perhaps he sometimes struck back, but he understood with a clear nobility the larger love of the uncertainty bollity the larger love of the unselfish na-bre. This he has expressed wonderfully a sentence of his "Eulogy of Life" where says in an inspired clause: "Knowing he says in an inspired clause: Knowing at last the unstudied gesture of esteem, the reverend eyes made rich with honest thought—pity for those who toil and weep, tears for the imprisoned and despised, love for the generous dead and in the heart the rapture of a high resolve."

HYDRA-HEADED ESHLEMAN. Eshleman continues his efforts to "dou-eshoot the turn," as the sporting colonel would say. With his name printed on Re-publican, on Democratic and on Progressive imary ballots, the voter of either party will be in the same frame of mind as were the members of a Presbyterian church in Massachusetts. MARTYRED ANARCHISTS.

M Arthur Caron, Charles Berg and Carl
Hansen—three New York anarchists—while ngaged in manufacturing bombs to be used to destroy the life and property of John D. ler, were blown up and killed by the missiles they were manufacturing. The anarchists of New York held a meeting in Union Square as a funeral for the deceased. It was claimed by the speakers that Rockefeller was responsible for the death of the dynamite makers. The principal speaker said: "These men were martyrs. They were killed by a bomb they expected to use against the enemies of labor. We are now ready to resort to physical force. We will get our rights by bloodshed. We are ad-vancing toward a revolution." The crowd. everal thousand strong, was kept in order by 700 policemen. N EXCHANGE OF COURTESIES. An English singer, not too well ceived in this country, says that America has no critics. It happens that Americans have often accused the English press and the English critics of entertaining a distinct prejudice against everything America Whatever the cause, it must be admitted that American actors for two or three years have not been warmly welcomed in London. If they object to American ragtime we can mend their taste, but if they oppose our best art, as a large majority of Sothern, we deplore their judgment. The unhappy distinction of the shortest run on record at the London Galety Theater. This was strictly of American production as far importance were statutes providing for the as its staging goes, but it is exceedingly weighing, handling and inspection of grain; the construction and location of grain warewritten in the French language, a fact nored. As staged in Los Angeles, it was ing State loans of seed grains to farmers in scenery and choruses, as it probably was in London, but it carried two or pers; for the subsidizing of State fairs from three delicious melodies and its lines were the State treasury; for enabling farmers sparkling. It did not merit greatest suc-to avoid the payment of a portion of their cess anywhere, but should have pleased the debts; for protecting butter-makers from audiences of any city for at least a few competition with oleomargarine; for reguweeks. It is quite unfair in Europe to judge lating the lumber business to such an ex-America by this one production and we tent that not a log can float down a stream trust that it is entirely untrue that the to the sawmill for which it is destined with critics of either country entertain any na- out official cognizance. V OX POPULI AND WAR.
If the voice of the people is the voice of God, then God must generally appear to be in favor of war, and the Israelites were correct in worshiping Jehovah as the Lord of conquering armies.

European conflict, instead of producing a serious and thoughtful attitude among the good burghers of Berlin, drove them to ec es of frenzied excitement. So much so that peace propagandists, distributing pamphlets against the horrors of war, had to be protected by the police from threat

Austria's unwarranted attack on Servia is not so inspiring, one would have supposed, as to kindle a patriotic fervor in the hearts of chivalrous Austrians. Even his own brother would hardly applaud a big man for starting in to thrash a youngster. If the little fellow deserved a licking there would be cause for sorrow; if he didn't there would be a burst of indignation. But the citizens of Vienna are ringing their joybells and waving their banners, as though Austria were about to grapple in a just cause with "a foeman worthy of her steel."

The real vox populi is heard among the threatened fathers and mothers and chilthreatened fathers and mothers and children across the Danube in the almost defenseless capital of Servia. Belgrade is not invoking Jehovah nor singing Te Deums of anticipated military glories. Her people a force of foreigners from one country it far as possible, their homes and streets and must be becoming exceedingly metropolitan. ure to a surer retreat in the interior. Her drum and fife and flying banners, thrilled by the plaudits of an admiring crowd.

They are plying picks and showels, building hasty military railways, concentrating their small armies, and answering Austria's haughty demands, not with loud defiance, but in earnest preparations for defense. Perhaps little Servia turns a wistful eye to the north, wonders whether the great white brother will sit supinely by and watch a brave little Slav community offered up as a sacrifice to Austrian greed for more territory. The voice of the people—of a whole people—calls for a general protest against the Austrian policy of might against right.

No: the real "vox populi," which is the true "vox Dei," is not the voice calling for war, longing for a pageant, enthused with the excitement and drugging the heart against the thoughts of bloodshed, suffering, disease and destruction. It is the low, vibrant voice of the threatened victim, determined, whatever the odds, to play a man's part, to fight for faith and race and ice—when the fight is forced with the calm courage of Christian soldiers.
The voice of God is the voice of Belgrade, not of Vienna. It says, give me not martial glory and military conquests and power and pomp; it cries, "Give me LIBERTY or give me death!"

HAIL TO INDUSTRIAD FREEDOM!
If 10 or 100 or 1000 laborers in mine or factory or foundry or tannery or on railroad or steamer form labor unions and agree not to work for any employer who hires a man who is not a member of a union, their action, however morally reprehensible and however unjust to their familles, their employers and themselves, is, so long as they do not resort to violence or ce, strictly within their legal rights. not to employ any man who is a member of a labor union, such action, although it may be criticised as ungenerous, is strictly within their legal rights and is indeed about cious method of resistance to the attempted agressions and exactions of union labor.

Labor unions were originally designed to procure legitimate betterment of industrial conditions. They degenerated into conspiracies to force employment for their mem-bers by excluding from employment those workers who were not members. Some of the companies of Crusaders in the Middle Ages, failing to reach and recover the Holy Sepulchre, became the hired bandits of barons who would pay their price. From religious organizations they became vehmic socleties, from benevolent brotherhoods they degenerated into mere plunderbunds.

A workman who is worth his salt does than a farmer needs the assistance of an agricultural association to find a market or fix a price for his potatoes. Labor is as marketable a commodity as potatoes it is at a disadvantage compared with potatoes, for it must find its market upon the instant or never find it at all.

If the farmer chooses to favor one buye for his potatoes rather than another, that is his privilege. If the purchaser cho to select one lot of potatoes rather than another, that is his privilege.

Here is where labor-unionism steps forward and attempts to repeal the laws of supply and demand, the right of free con tract, the right of the employer to select his employee, and the right of the worker to select his employer. Labor-unionism has degenerated into industrial slavery of the most drastic and undefensible character. and employers who combine to discourage it and emancipate both workers and employ ers from its despotism are engaged in a good work, not only for themselves, but for the workers and for the country.

Inventions in machinery for the producimmediately and greatly, and the losses occasioned by such inventions fall upon capital and not upon labor. "It seems," says David A. Wells in his work on "Economic Changes," "to be in the nature of a natural law that no advanced stage of civflization can be attained except at the expense of destroying, in a greater or less by which all previous attainments have honors and rewards to its inventors and each inventor or discoverer is unconscious ly trying to do is to destroy property, and his measure of success is always propor-tioned to the degree to which he effects which comes from Mayor Bauer of Indian apolis, who was a very prominent Progret live leader during the campaign of 1912. He has returned to the Republican party, saying that it is the only hope of the country against commercial disaster.

If tomorrow it should be announced that someone had so improved the machinery of cotton manufacture that 10 per cent. more of fiber could be spun and woven in a given time with no greater or a less expenditure of capital and labor than heretofore, all the existing machinery in all cotton mills of the world, representing an investment of millions upon millions of dollars, would be worth little more than so much old fron, steel and copper; and the change would, in the face of the flerce com-petition of the world, soon find himself bankrupt and without capital. In short, all material progress is effected by a disp ment of capital equally with that of labor; and nothing marks the rate of such prog more clearly than the rapidity with which such displacements occur. There is, owever, this difference between the two factors involved: Labor displaced, as a condition of progress, will be eventually absorbed in other occupations; but capital ed, when new machinery is substituted for old, is practically destroyed.

He says that Democratic economic policy does not bring prosperity and does not enwho believe that the Democratic theory is wrong and in consequence get together, we free trade.

Mayor Baner is aware that the purpose of the income tax amendment to the Constitution was at the bottom to give the government a chance to go to free trade and get income by the income tax in place of customs duties.

Mayor Bauer says frankly he believes in protection, and that there is folly in the majority dividing on that issue when it is the great issue of the day. To divide is to fasten Democratic rule on the country and lead to perpetual disaster. Whatever may be the tendency of the markets to recover strength, the manufac turing industry of the United States suffers perpetually from the free admission of foreign goods without limit. Official returns show that imports are rapidly increasing. exports diminishing, with the inevitable consequences of throwing men out of work in this country by scores of thousands, ultimately running into millions.

The borrower runs in his own debt." Then Emerson does something rare in his fine writing. He himself uses a quotation. It is that "The highest price a man can pay for a thing is to ask for it." vitalizing the truth he wishes to cor vey Emerson drives it home with vivid finality. "Has a man gained anything who has received a hundred favors and rendered none?" he asks. "Has he gained by borrowing, through indolence or cunning, There rises on the deed the instant ac knowledgment of benefit on the one part and of debt on the other; that is of si periority and inferiority. The transaction remains in the memory of himself and his neighbor and every new transaction alters, according to its nature, their relation to each other. He may soon come to see that he had better have broken his own bones than to have ridden in his neighbor's coach.

"A wise man will extend this lesson to all parts of life and know that it is always the part of prudence to face every claim and pay every just demand on your time, your talents or your heart. Benefit is the end of nature, but for every benefit you receive a tax is levied. He is great who confers the most benefits. He is base—and that is the one base thing in the universe—to receive favors and render none. In the rder of nature we cannot render bene fits to those from whom we receive them, or only seldom. But the benefit received must be rendered again, line for line, deed for deed, cent for cent, to somebody. Beware of too much good rupt and form worms. Pay it away quickly in some sort."

The people who beat you, hornswoggi and cheat you, don't profit for long from the kale; for folks who are tricky find Nemesia sticky—it never abandons their trail. I've often been cheated; the trick's been repeated so often I cannot keep tab; but ne'er has the duffer who thus made me suffer been much better off for his grab. It pays not to swindle; dishonest rolls dwindle like snow when exposed to the sun; like feathers in Tophet is burned up the profit of cheating, the crooked man's mon. The people who sting me unknowingly bring me philosophy fresh, by the crate; I don't get excited—my wrongs will be righted by Nem-esis, Fortune or Fate. I know that the stingers—they think they are dingers, and gloat o'er the coin they don't earn—I know they'll be busted and sick and disgusted, while I still have roubles to burn. I'd rather be hollow with hunger than follow the course that the tricksters pursue; I'd rather be "easy" than do as the breezy and conscience less gentlemen do. COUNTING THE COST,

BY ALMA WHITAKER. "Madame, did I not give you eighteen housand francs?" asked Mons. Caillaux of his former wife. "And did I not take you without a penny?"

But the former Madame Caillaux wasn't satisfied. Very few alimony brides are.
The Caillaux love was apparently beyond price, the irreplaceable treasure for which no multiplication of france could substitute. and, sister, it is an embarrassing little confession for you and I to have to make, but, alas, it is all too true that man's love, that unstable, unreliable, intangible thing, is the only love that seems to have an intrinsic value. Our own is dirt cheap, abundant, hardy, prolific, and every man has so much more than his share that he invariable research it as a support seems.

Man's love is the expensive, frail orchid;
ours the hardy, cheap geranium that no florist thinks it worth while to stock. Man's florist thinks it worth while to stock. Man's love is like the restless wave that flows from shore to shore (that is quoting from an old song that many of us have sung with fearful fervor, or with a wistful twinkle in our eye) and ours is the still deep well that is very useful, especially when it's the only source of supply for the household, but which no one would dream of waying neetical or traying them. waxing poetical or tragic about.

In many European countries a woman's love is such a worthless thing that, unless a dowry goes with it, no man will be both-ered with it. Even here in America, where ered with it. Even here in America, where a few of us manage to get a fairly high price for our persons, it isn't our love that fetches the dollar; it's our indifference, our disdain. If we love them with any outward and visible sign, they know we can't be worth the price and hasten to purchase elsewhere. Indeed, it is a humiliating fact that a woman's love is only valuable when it is in doubt, when its existence is still a matter of conjecture, when it shows a disposition to wander, to retreat, to withhold. There is nothing a man finds quite so altion to wander, to retreat, to withhold.

There is nothing a man finds quite so tresome as an abundance of feminine love. If the chase, as in fox-hunting, could but end in a clean kill it would suit him far better. He would love to cherish the brush and have the head stuffed for the ornament and have the head stuffed for the ornament of his den, but to have to take us into ever-lasting domesticity and endeavor to make useful house dogs of us—that is altogether too exacting and spoils the sport completely.

How comes it that man has succeeded in making his love so valuable? Is it its rarity, its frail and fleeeting loveliness?

We know all about it. How oft have we confided in each other anent its fallibility? We have spoken of it with contempt, with sarcasm, with merry jibe. We have laughed at it, doubted it, scorned it, cursed it. We have no faith in it no faith.

nave no faith in it, no faith.

And yet we seek it of all things, prize it of all things, and when we have lost it we proceed to appraise it in fabulous figures and to consider every jury's assessment as way below worth!

Caillaux's love was never worth eighteen thousand francs a year—$5000. The first Madame Caillaux should have been overjoyed at her bargain. Yet neither that nor twenty times that sum could compensate her for the loss of that worthless thing. Nothing but good, rich, gory blood, the blood of another woman, could really heal her lacerated heart. Just the fact that he was all-too-ready to pay eighteen thousand francs a year to be rid of her and her love made the bargain all the worse. And he grandly, chivalrously reminded the court that he had taken the first Madame Cail-

What are we going to do about it? Will Ellen Key's economic independence of women steady the market and engender a healthy rise? Both he and we know that at present his own love stock stands at greatly inflated quotations—and he is making hav while the sun shines. But it isn't good for him, and it's horrid for us. If we could but corner feminine love for a decade, if we could but follow the logical teachings of Lysistrata for a spell all might be well.

Perhaps that is what this feminine movement will achieve. Perhaps. We are pass-ing through the transition stage now—un-comfortable, ugly, but quite wonderful. We have not yet been able to readjust values, but we know and feel that the assessments are all wrong. We are like that English land which was acquired by the peers in the long ago and still pays taxes on the old assessment although its value has in creased a hundredfold through the "movement of population."

Conditions have altered; special privilege is passing; hereditary honor grows less and less valuable. The land commissioners are out and a great revaluation. sioners are out and a great revaluation property is breaking through traditions. We women must be wise. We must hang on to our love. Neither poverty, hunger nor the state of discontent must make us sell cheap. We must hold on for the rise. Perhaps it is must hold on for the rise. Fernaps it is only a temporary slump.

And in the meantime let us be careful how we estimate the love of the loat man. So long as we can seem to cure heartaches with dollars our case is a weak one, his conscience at ease.

The advisability of the appointment of Minister of Railways to be a member of the Cabinet, making the Interstate Com merce Commission a body responsible to the administration, is being seriously dis cussed by thoughtful people. A Minister of Rallways in this country should be a man natiways in this country should be a man of long experience in the management of railroads. This might seem a shocking statement to a politician, but older countries than ours have learned this lesson. For instance, in England the Hon. W. E. Ackworth is chairman of the board of the London and Southwestern Railway, one of England's greatest railroad companies, and England's greatest railroad companies, and he is also a member of the government Railroad Commission.

This public management of railroads, to day the most important subject before the country, should be under administrative control. The Interstate Commerce Com mission was created and one power after another has been delegated to it by Con-gress. But no control by Congress over it has been retained, and today it is a law open relatives, and dought is a law unto itself. It is above Congress and above the people. It has grown along, developing diagonally until it has become one of the most disturbing threats to the country's well being. Over a billion dollars of rail-well being. Over a billion dollars of rail-road property is in the hands of receivers and there is little relief in sight. Such a body should be absolutely under control of the administration in power, which now has to suffer from its mistakes. President Wilson has been frequently re-ported, as early as last January, in favor of a reasonable rate advance. Had a Min-ister of Railways, with a bureau under his charge, been then in operation, six months of momentous time would have been saved and the business of the country, instead of being depressed and jeopardized, would by this time have been in full flow of profitable activity.

Roberts Comes Back.

Frank C. Roberts has replied to Dudley W. Robinson, declining to campaign with him over the Ninth District, where both are candidates for the Republican nomination for Congress. Editor Roberts bases his declination upon the fact that both are Republicans and in the main will discuss the same issues, and that he would prefer to make an independent campaign, face to face with the voters, than to join in debate or tour the district with another candidate. Mr. Roberts assures Mr. Robinson of his undivided support should the latter win at the primaries.

It is not the acknowledged flirt, the pretty coquette, that the woman who has a fickle husband should fear. She who smiles openly and above board has no more harm in her heart than a playful gitten. She has gained her aim and ambition in being merely smiled upon and admired.

She could not be constant to any one person if she would. Like the guesn bee, her life is spent flitting from one flower to another, always looking forward, anticipating the taste of new sweetness, never looking backward.

Second Week Starts With a Rush! New Selling Records in Sight!

If the first day of the second week of Baker's great shoe sale is any index, this week is going to be a "humdinger" at the Baker stores. People are just beginning to realize that this is a different clearance sale—that instead of being obliged to pick over a few "leavings" they have a choice from scores of fresh, new summer shoe styles in which ALL sizes and widths are represented. When they learn the wonderfully low sale prices attached to these shoes, the sale is closed forthwith. Below we show an example of one line of pumps—showing the sizes most in demand in stock. You can't lose unless you fail to buy one or more pairs of these shoes.

After the luncheon the party made the trip to the outer end of the new wharf in automobiles over the smooth asphalt at a rate of speed that would have startled a traffic officer, had there been one on duty there. The party included President Woodman, C. M. Gordan and Traffic Manager Clarence H. Matson of the Harbor Commission: Lorin A. Handley and Secretary Horace B. Farris of the Board of Public Works; Homer Hamilin, S. A. Jubb, E. D. Vincent, E. H. Sleeper, harbor engineers; O. A. Nichols and G. C. Munoz, of the firm of Snare & Triest, and Frank R. Sever of Los Angeles.

After inspecting the wharf, the foundations for the new steel transit freight shed, upon which work is to be started immediately, were inspected. The new freight shed will be 100x1800 feet, extending almost to the edge of the wharf, so that freight can be swung directly from the ship into the shed.

The inspection of the new wharf as made following a luncheon given the South Coast Yacht Club by C. Munos, consulting engineer for the Simple Contractors are expected to make short work of the service being a state of New ork. This firm did the construction work upon the new wharf, the ontract price being $185,080.

The city acquired the right of way for the boulevard several years ago and had the house moved off, but work of making the cut through the hill north of Fourth street has been held up by property owners, who refuse to waive damages.

Having paid a good price for the property city officials have been determined that they will not pay damages for an improvement that is expected to enhance the value of the property along the way. The proposed cut would extend four blocks north of Fourth street, San Pedro, to meet the road already improved around the west basin and into Los Angeles. The cut would be about skyt feet in the deepest part.

Recently the City Council, at the cut and improve the road. The proceedings provided that any damages swarded should be assessed to the abutting property and that the cost of removing the dirt would be paid from the harbor and improvement funds.

Property owners objecting to the plan asked that the hearing be postponed until they might submit plans upon which they could agree for taking down the entire hill and opening up the prospective industrial district behind the hill, known as Happy Valley, to the water front.

Members of the Council intimated to the property owners that they would have to present some better proposition than one expecting the city to take down the streets an alleys if the present proceedings are to be abandoned. It was agreed that the hearing should be adjourned until August 6 to give the property owners time to formulate some plan. The Harbor Commission has agreed to open up—the streets east of the boulevard to the water front without cost, but objects to the expense of grading west of the boulevard.

Now everyone, even Patrolman Dib-e, realizes the necessity of a good bath, whether it be taken daily, weekly, monthly or annually. But baths must be taken in suitable places, says Patrolman Dibble, and no excuse will be accept.

So when Rags, a little newsy who hangs out in Central Park, ran up to the majesty of the law in the small hours of the morning yesterday and informed him that bathing was going on in the fountain. Patrolman Dibble rubbed the sleepiness out of his eyes, threw back his shoulders seven inches, took up four notches in his belt, twisted his mustache so that he would resemble the German Emperor, and started for the fountain at a seven-mile pace.

He knew that the newsy couldn't keep up with the pace he set, but he didn't know that the newsy had no intention of doing so, that, in fact, he was going down a side street as fast as his dirty little legs could carry him.

As Patrolman Dibble reached Sev-

The engineer's letter gives assurance that the Highway Commission has accepted Santa Barbara county's stipulation as to bridges, which means that highway construction through this county will now go forward without a hitch.

Highway construction is proceeding rapidly on both sides of the county apidly on both sides of the county feature on every highway section in the county. By spring Santa Barbara expects to have a completed highway from this city to Los Angeles, as the construction work in Ventura county is far along.

"What is your business?" the court

"Shooting the cage," replied Mr.

Conwell yesterday. He advanced the idea that the city should open a branch office of the City Treasurer on Saturday evenings, at some convenient place.

Members of the City Council went to San Pedro yesterday afternoon to inspect Nob Hill, where the streets are about to be regraded. Property owners are anxious to have their ground cut to street level at the same time, and the Council is considering the matter of having the work done jointly.

The Annexation Commission will meet at the Mayor's office this afternoon at 3:30, for a conference with

To be called a dead beat, cheap skate and a crook, and to be grabbed by the arm, leg and arm, and thrown from a Los Angeles Railway car is the foundation for a $10,000 damage suit filed by H. A. Stone against the corporation yesterday. And it all occurred over the conductor of the car March 18, last, refusing to accept a transfer from Mr. Stone, which he alleges was given him by the conductor on a Seventh-street car at Seventh and Broadway. Mr. Stone charges that he was assaulted malicipusly and without provocation.

PUTS ONE OVER, Mrs. A. Wilburs

PUTS ONE OVER. Mrs. A. Wilburg has triumphed over Justice Soward of El Monte. The victory was won in Judge Works's court yesterday when her suit against the justice for an alternative writ of mandate was decided in her favor by the court. It was held that the justice's court cannot grant a new trial, which was the milk in the occoanut in the original action for debt.
